Vienna, Auguſt 25. N. S.

THE Emperor on the 17th Inſtant ſigned a Patent for eſtabliſhing a new Bank in this City, called Banco de Giro. Our laſt Accounts from Tirol left the French attacking Arco, a ſtrong Caſtle on that Frontier, Gariſoned by 400 regular Troops and 200 Peaſants, commanded by the Baron de Treſſen, Lieutenant-Colonel of the Regiment of Nigrelly, who ſeemed prepared for a reſolute Defence. General Heiſter, who commands a Body of Imperial Forces in thoſe Parts, intended to remove the 14th Inſtant from Brixen to Inſpruck, to obſerve the Elector of Bavaria. The number of the Rebels in Hungary is encreaſed, and it is believed they are ſupported by ſome Foreign Power, which remits conſiderable Sums of Money to them by the way of Hamburgh and Dantzick; yet it is hoped they will ſoon be ſuppreſſed, when once the Troops deſigned for that Service are got together. Letters from Conſtantinople give an Account, of Commotions begun there the 17th of July, by 250 Men only, belonging to the Artillery, who mutinied for want of their Pay; But by the 23d they were encreaſed to vaſt numbers, being joined by People of all Profeſſions, and broke out into open Rebellion; and they had ſent a formal Deputation of 30 Perſons to Adrianople, threatening the Grand Signior to depoſe him, if he did not return very ſpeedily to Conſtantinople, and immediately remove from about his Perſon his Mother, the Mufti, and thoſe in their Intereſt. They write from Adrianople of the 27th, that theſe Remonſtrances had this effect, that the Mufti, Feizullah Effendi, was baniſhed, with his numerous Family, as alſo his Favourite the Cadileſcher, or Chief Judge of Rumelia: With theſe Changes they hoped the People would be ſatisfied, eſpecially if the Grand Signior could be prevailed with to return to Conſtantinople, and keep his Reſidence there: But other Advices from Peter-Waradin of the 12th Inſtant add, that not only the Mufti, but alſo the Grand Viſier, Rama Mehmed Baſhaw, late Reis Effendy, and Huſſin Baſhaw, late Governor of Belgrade, are all three ſtrangled, and the Grand Signior himſelf depoſed, and ſent to Conſtantinople; but whether dead or alive was not yet known, nor whether his Brother or Nephew ſhall ſucceed him. Numan Baſhaw, of the Family of Cuperli, and Caimacan of Conſtantinople, is ſaid to be declared Grand Vizier, and one of his Brothers to be Mufti.

Ratisbonne, Auguſt 30. On the 28th Inſtant Colonel Santini, who commands the Bavarian Troops poſted hereabouts, ſent for one of our Magiſtrates, and told him he had Orders to demand the Keys of all our City Gates, the Arms of the Citizens, the Poſſeſſion of the Magazine, and Quarters for the Soldiers who were to lie in Gariſon here; and having deſired the Burghers might have notice to ſhut their Shops, and keep within their Houſes, for fear of any Diſorder, he marched into the Town with a Squadron of Dragoons, 3 Battalions of Foot, and 4 Field-Pieces, placed Centinels in all the Streets, and Guards in all the Market-places, and at the Gates: but having come to an Agreement with our Magiſtrates, whereby his Demands we in a great meaſure complied with, the Guards were withdrawn from the Streets and Market-places, and only left in the uſual Poſts. We have an Account from Bavaria, that on the 18th Major-General Ventlau, with the Body under his Command, conſiſting of about 8000 Men, attacked the Bavarian Lines near Paſſau in 4 places, and forced them, after half an hour's Diſpute, wherein he had only 3 Men killed, and 14 wounded, and the Bavarians 15 killed, and of their wounded 150 were brought the next day to Sherding, as is affirmed by Deſerters: He marched afterwards to Sherding, and the 26th, in the morning began to bombard it, and by 10 at night they ſaw the Fire break out in two or three places in the Town; but upon reports that the Elector of Bavaria was marching with his whole Army to its Relief, the Major-General, fearing to be over-powered, retired towards Paſſau: In the mean time Colonel d'Arnan, whom he had ſent over the Danube with a Detachment, had taken Hengerſperg, a ſtrong Caſtle near that River, and not far from Deckendorf: Another Detachment from the Blockade of Rothenberg is advanced to Amberg; and the Huſſars and Militia from Bohemia had ſummoned the Town of Cham, and upon the Governor's Refuſal to ſurrender, they had laid Siege to it. The Elector, on Advice of theſe ſeveral Irruptions, has thought fit to abandon Mitterwald, and his Enterpriſe on Tirol; and having ſent a Detachment towards Schardiug, marched with the reſt of his Forces to Munich, where he arrived the 22d, and his Troops were ſtill encamped near that Place the 24th. General Heyſter is advanced to Mitterwald. Letters from the Armies on the Danube ſay, that Prince Lewis had left the Army the 21ſt, contrary to all Expectation, and paſſed the ſame evening through Giengen, with a Guard of 150 Horſe, towards Gieſtingen; his Bagage followed that night; and 15000 Men marched from the Imperial Army the next morning, with whom his Highneſs intended to join the Body commanded by the Count de la Tour, and to paſs over the Iller into Bavaria: He has been reinforced near Ehingen by the Dutch Battalions under Major-General Goor. We hear the Duke of Vendoſme is ſtill ravaging the Frontiers of Tirol on the Lake di Garda; but that the Detachment he had ſent to beſiege the Caſtle of Arco had been forced to retire with great Loſs.

Landau, Auguſt 31. The French Army commanded by the Duke of Burgundy is before Briſac, and they have thrown ſeveral Bombs into the Place; but we cannot yet judge whether it will end in a Bombarding only or in a formal Siege. We hear General Thungen intends to begin ſome Enterpriſe which may make a Diverſion of the Enemy's Forces. Our Advices from Swabia ſay, that Prince Lewis, having left 57 Squadrons and 31 Battalions in his Camp at Hauſheim, under the Command of the Count de Stirum, to obſerve the Mar-
